

POSSE CAPTURES OFFICER'S SLAYER IN LOWELLVILLE

Italian Calmly Surrenders After Search Lasting Through Night.

HAD THREATENED MAYOR OF VILLAGE

Slayer, Aged 30, Considered Eccentric; Family Trouble Blamed.

Youngstown, June 8. — (SPL.)—A posse headed by Sheriff Lyden and County Detective Harrison landed Giuseppe Siento, Italian shoemaker, of Lowellville, in the county jail here at 6 a. m. after he had shot and killed Patrolman Wallace Flickinger of Lowellville late last night.

Flickinger was shot three times. Two shots were embedded in his back and another tore away the right thumb as the officer grappled with Siento.

Without a word of warning Siento approached the policeman from the rear and opened fire at close range. Flickinger sought to capture his assailant but was dropped in his tracks.

According to Sheriff Lyden, Siento had threatened Mayor Zuercher and Lowellville police officers because he believed they had not given him necessary police protection. Siento carried three large revolvers when arrested. He feared constant attack by blackhands.

Awaits Posse's Return
A posse formed immediately after the murder and scoured the hills surrounding Lowellville all night. When it returned to the village at dawn Sheriff Lyden found Siento calmly waiting towards the scene of the crime. He denied the shooting and surrendered without resistance.

Siento, 30, is considered very eccentric. Lowellville authorities claim he was suffering from an hallucination that the police had caused him trouble. He was estranged from his wife, whom he married about one year ago and this is believed by friends to have unbalanced Siento's mind.

Siento told Sheriff Lyden today that last night when he returned to his room he found someone had entered his apartment and stolen a box of cartridges and that he had reported the matter to the mayor, as he suspected blackhanders had taken the shells.

Flickinger was a widower 35 years old and leaves one child.

SCOUTS OF SALEM GO AFTER HONORS

Regional Director Pleaded With Earnest Training For County Meet.

Salem has an excellent chance of bringing back the county championship from the annual scout rally and field meet at Rock Springs park, W. Va., according to Regional Scout Executive Joseph M. Butcher of Columbus, who inspected several local troops here this week.

The regional executive warns the local scouts against overconfidence but expressed great satisfaction at the earnest manner in which Troops 1, 3, 4 and 7 have been training for the various events which will be contested Saturday.

All four troops have some capable performers and the regional executive believes that some new records for the county will be established. Mr. Butcher declares that Troops 3 and 4 will spring many surprises in the big meet as they have developed some rapid and accurate workers under their respective leaders, George Miser and Rev. J. P. Harman. Last year Troops 1 and 7 of Salem led the field in the order named, but one point apart, and their scoutmasters, Sam Coles and Parker Lowell, feel certain that they have an even better chance to knock down points Saturday as they have teams entered in every event.

MAN KILLS WIFE, WOUNDS ESCORT

Youngstown, June 8.—Jealousy is believed to have prompted the probable fatal shooting of Mrs. Lorenzo Oliza, 18, and serious wounding of Tony Sumara, 28, her escort, late last night at East Youngstown. Mrs. Lorenzo Oliza, the woman's husband, who according to police laid in wait for the couple at Wilson and Fifth st.

Sumara escorted the woman home from a dance in an automobile. The Olizas had been separated for about a week. Police searched all night for Oliza but he had not been captured at noon today.

Holds Patrolmen At Bay; Terrorizes Mourners; Is Shot

Cincinnati, June 8.—Crazed by raw moonshine, a former patrolman is dead today, killed by a policeman after he had kept a second officer covered with a pistol for an hour, threatening to kill if any effort were made to arrest him.

The killing ended a series of melodramatic scenes in which Wallace H. Spear, 33, terrorized mourners watching in the death chamber of his grandmother.

Spear was killed by Police Detective William McCorkhill after a squad of police had watched the crazed man grimly guarding Patrolman Charles Hartley, shouting that he would drill a bullet into the brain of the captive officer, if attempts were made by anyone to enter the barricaded room.

In the adjoining room was his grandmother's body, surrounded by cowering relatives whom he had menaced throughout the evening.

A police cordon including a dozen members stood helplessly about unable to storm the room because of fears that Spear would redeem his threat and murder Patrolman Hartley. Finally the former policeman, cowering into a position where he could be shot, was dropped by a fusillade from McCorkhill's pistol.

Spear was at one time a traffic officer, but was dismissed for excessive use of intoxicants.

Diplomas Presented To 91 Graduates Of High School, Is Largest Class In History

Program Of Music, Oratory Given As Friends Fill School Auditorium.

With mingled feelings of joy and sadness, the 91 members of the class of 1923 were graduated from Salem High school Thursday night with an excellent program of music and oratory.

This class, the largest in the history of Salem High school, completely filled the flower laden stage of the auditorium. One note of sadness was manifested when it was announced that Ruth Gordon, an honor student and one of the speakers of the evening, was ill and unable to be with her classmates for their final gathering of the 1923 term.

The stage presented a very pleasing picture. Girls of the class were attired in white and the boys and girls were arranged alternately on the platform. Potted plants and many dozens of cut flowers made the stage a veritable flower garden.

Following the invocation by Rev. H. L. Miller of the First Christian church, Miss Elizabeth Miller of the graduating class, opened the program with a delightful piano solo.

President Welcomes Guests

Richard Roose, class president, was the first speaker of the evening and welcomed the guests to the commencement exercises. Speaking on "The Future American" he emphasized the need of three great characteristics in the making of the future American, dreams, courtesy and faith. His talk was well delivered.

Taking as her topic "Friendly Virtues," Miss Nellie Haldeman gave one of the best orations of the program. "To be a friend and to have friends is the desire of every one of us," she said. The real friendly virtues which we all desire are cheerfulness, thoughtfulness, good will and justice, she declared. Her delivery was excellent and her subject clearly explained.

"What the world needs today is men who choose the path that leads to something real," said Inez McCullough who spoke on "Roads to Success." "There is nothing really worthy while that is not really difficult," she declared. Her subject was good and her delivery excellent.

Honor Graduates Speak

Excellent orations were given by the three leading honor graduates, Florence Hoffmaster, Lucy Hole and Raymond Parshall.

Miss Hoffmaster took for her topic "The Age of Opportunity" in which she traced developments from the stone age to the present day. "Initiative" was the subject chosen by Miss Hole and her oration was one of the finest of the evening. "What Is Wrong With the World Today," by Raymond Parshall, contained a criticism of modern warfare and urged the settling of international problems through arbitration.

A plea that parents visit the school and see just what their children are doing, not only in the line of study but in the recreational part as well, was voiced by Morgan Forney who spoke on "Your School." His message (Continued on fourth page.)

WHISKY AND STILL FOUND BY POLICE ON WAGNER FARM

Mayor Fines Andy Wagner $300 As Police Make Trip Into Country.

Andy Wagner, living south of Salem near McCracken's corner, not far from Lisbon was fined $300 in police court Friday morning by Mayor John W. Post, on a charge of illegal possession of liquor.

Wagner's arraignment followed the finding of 25 gallons of whisky, a 25-gallon still and two barrels of mash in his home Thursday evening by a squad of officers including Chief of Police Thompson, Police Officers Bryn and Gray and Firemen Yarrowood and Melville.

The still was not in operation when found by the raiders. It was made of tin which chemists say produces liquor of a highly poisonous nature.

Wagner has been under suspicion for some time and his arrest follows an investigation by members of the police and fire departments.

Wagner was unable to pay his fine Friday morning and was ordered locked in the city jail until the full amount was paid. Failing to do this he will be sent to the county jail.

TEN GIRLS POISONED BY EATING CHICKEN

Members Of Caro Nome Club Become Ill Following Club Dinner.

Practically all members of the Caro Nome Fancypool club were the victims of poisoning when they ate chicken at a meeting of the club last Tuesday night, it is reported.

Ten or more members of the club were seized with pain Tuesday night and two of the young women, Miss Marie Hirtz and Miss Stella Kline, have been seriously ill while several others still are suffering from the effects of the poisoning. Miss Hirtz is confined to her bed while Miss Kline is somewhat improved.

Greatly concerned over the condition of her guests the hostess has demanded that a sample of the chicken be analyzed to determine the nature and origin of the poison.

Thistle Troop Will Practice For Revue

COSGAREA JAILED AFTER SEARCH OF NEARLY 7 MONTHS

Arrested In City Thursday By Officers Ritchie And Hannay.

JUMPED BOND ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Hotel Proprietor Refused Bond, Now Prisoner In Palestine Jail.

A search lasting nearly seven months for Steve Cosgarea, part owner of the Union hotel, Roosevelt ave., ended Thursday afternoon when he was arrested and taken to East Palestine by Constable Earl Ritchie and Frank Hannay, a deputized officer.

Cosgarea was charged with selling and possessing liquor when state prohibition agents and private citizens inaugurated the vice raids here on November 23 last year. The warrant for his arrest was sworn to by H. J. Burton, one of two investigators who worked in the city for more than five weeks gathering evidence prior to the first raid.

James Cosgarea, brother of Steve, pleaded guilty to the charge against him and paid his fine. When the day for trial came, Steve could not be found and he was reported as having fled the county.

Since that time several attempts have been made to arrest him. The first was made on Christmas night when a free for all fight resulted, during which James Cosgarea was arrested after a stiff tussle, and taken to East Palestine. He was later fined $100 and costs for resisting an officer.

In Jail At East Palestine

A bond of $1,500 signed by Mrs. Elmer Neago, for Steve Cosgarea, was declared forfeited by Mayor A. W. Ferren of East Palestine, when the man failed to appear for trial. Preliminary steps were taken through the common pleas court to have the amount of the bond collected, but nothing definitely had been done prior to Steve's arrest Thursday.

Learning that Cosgarea was in Salem, Ritchie and Hannay located him and placed him under arrest. He offered no resistance and was taken to East Palestine and locked in the jail there. Bond was refused and he was still a prisoner at noon Friday. Mayor Ferren announced that he would decide whether the man would be allowed liberty on bond after he had consulted with Atty. J. L. Hilton of Canton, attorney for the Anti-Saloon league.

Cosgarea has been classed as a fugitive since January. He is said to have made several trips to Salem but always managed to evade arrest. It was reported that he was located Thursday through his automobile which was being repaired.

Graves of deceased Odd Fellows, and Rebekahs will be marked and the program will be given in the hall upon the return from the cemetery.

Eugene Snipes was elected noble grand and James V. Turney vice grand at Thursday night's meeting. These and appointive officers will be installed in July. Initiation was conducted and announcement made that the second degree would be conferred next Thursday.

TWO SALEM LIQUOR CASES ARE HEARD

The trial of Miss Anna Andrei and George Boderna, Broadway, charged with illegal possession of liquor, opened late Friday afternoon before Mayor Albert W. Ferren of East Palestine.

Americanism 100 Per Cent

THERE is a well-directed and sharply-pointed lesson of 100 per cent Americanism in the address of President Harding before the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. No one can read it without a conscious uplift and a heartening inspiration. It is weighted with the ennobling aspiration of true fraternity among men. This aspiration cannot be expressed more eloquently or more fully than in his own words:
"I wish somehow we could have fraternity among nations, as it is taught in America among men. I do not mean to employ sign, grip or password, which afford an appealing mystery to our relationship, but the insistent demand for just dealing, the respect of right of others, and the ideals of brotherhood recited in the Golden Rule and the righteous fellow-relationship which every man knows his God approves. Under such a reign of fraternity cruel human warfare never will come again."

This sentiment will be approved by all earnest-minded men. It finds a responsive chord in the heart of every true American, as does his distinction between fraternity and conspiracy,
when he said:

"In the very naturalness of association men band together for mischief, to exert misguided zeal, to vent un-reasoning malice, to undermine our institutions.

"This isn't fraternity; this is conspiracy. This isn't associated uplift;
it is organized destruction.

"This is not brotherhood; it is the discolor of disloyalty and a danger to the republic."

Both of these utterances are timely, with the disciples of unrest rampant in the world and the propaganda of sedition being sown broadcast in the United States by unnaturalized agents of Bolshevism and by misguided citizens of the republic.

Special Officers

IN his plea to city council to produce the ordinance which provides for special officers to help the policemen in liquor raids, the mayor conveyed the impression to the public that the ordinance was not in effect.
Such is not the case. This ordinance, which provides that 25 per cent of liquor law violation fines may be devoted to the payment of special officers who are used to work up the cases or aid in arrests, was passed by city council and signed by the mayor many weeks ago. It has never been used because soon after its passage some attorney indicated that it was illegal or at least not all that it should be in conformity with legal requirements. The city solicitor is understood to have indicated that the ordinance would be amended. Such is the present plan, but if the mayor wanted to use the ordinance he might have tried it long ago, making a test of its legality. As a matter of fact the mayor wants council to appropriate $500 so he can employ special agents in liquor raids. The ordinance did not contemplate that, nor does it seem to be necessary in view of the large portion of the fine that may be set aside to pay the sleuths. The public would like to see the mayor take advantage of his opportunities without trying to pass the buck to city council.

nell was rendered temporarily senseless by a shock from a bolt of lightning when the Davis home, Lincoln ave, was damaged during the electrical storm.

W. C. Boyle, president of the Salem Gas Light Co., expects to leave for a trip abroad early in July. The trouble between the Gas company and city council, in regard to fixing the price to be charged for gas, may be the means of causing Mr. Boyle to postpone his trip.

Fire Truck Has Four-Wheel Drive.

Fire-fighting apparatus has been improved upon to the extent of equipping large trucks with individual motor drives in each wheel and raising or lowering the ladders by air and hydraulic pressure, says an illustrated article in Popular Mechanics Magazine. The current for the driving motors is supplied from powerful storage batteries which are suspended beneath the frame of the vehicle. An air compressor, driven by a gasoline engine, is incorporated in the outfit and furnishes the necessary elevating power for the heavy ladders, the lowering of these being accomplished with the aid of oil brakes, or compression cylinders. The action of the ladders is so simple that but one man is required to operate them.

Ethics of Odd Jobbers.

That a code of ethics exists among men of all work was discovered recently by a Woodlawn householder who hired a man to beat her rugs.
She had seen the man looting on the corner and asked him if he wanted a job. He said he was a truckman, and that he received 75 cents an hour when employed. He was engaged to beat the rugs at that figure. Finishing with the rugs, the householder asked him if he would put in three or four more hours scrubbing the kitchen floor. He certainly would not, although he needed the money. That was woman's work, he said, and he did not do it even at home. His wife had to do that.—Exchange.

Titled Pair on Love Iliad

Earl and Countess of Lanesborough.

The Earl of Lanesborough, England, and his bride, the countess Lanesborough, have arrived in San Francisco from Honolulu in their "Love Iliad" tour of the world. On their honeymoon trip they succeeded in evading all camera men from London to San Francisco, but there they lost out. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks (Mary Pickford), friends of the titled tourists, have arranged to entertain them at their California home.

X-RAY LITTLE UNDERSTOOD

Not Much More Known of It Than When It Was First Made Public by Roentgen.

Wounds are no longer probed for bullets; fractures are not set by guess; flawed teeth are examined without being pulled.

But the extraordinary fact concerning the X-ray is that practically nothing has been learned about it since it was first introduced and experimented with by Roentgen. Though has been found out about the laws that govern it to make it a practicable instrument for diagnosis, but as a scientific phenomenon it is almost isolated and is far from being understood. It remains, for the lay mind at least, an inexplicable demonstration of the lack of solidity in matter.

If there is a kind of light and a kind of sight that go through flesh and blood, then flesh and blood are subject to laws of which the race is so far almost completely ignorant. When the existing clues are developed it is fairly certain that Roentgen's contribution to science will loom larger even than at the present time.—New York World.

Mother of Invention.

Ingenuity was manifested to a notable degree in Spain and France at the time of the last solar eclipse. The windows in Madrid, Paris and other cities were filled with a great variety of devices for viewing the passage of the moon across the sun's disk without danger to the observer's eyes. There were black spectacles, black glass monocles, black glasses set in pasteboard handles of 20 different forms, and also devices for viewing the phenomenon by reflection. But the people made many contrivances of their own, such as pinholes through paper or through the tops of derby hats. Some viewed the eclipse in the streets or on the roofs by reflection from pails or pans of water to reduce the glare, and some saw it through cambric handkerchiefs or thin umbrella tops. The bookshops abounded with paper-bound treatises on eclipses.—Washington Star.

From Poverty to Fame.

Maxim Gorky, the Russian novelist, and Chaliapin, the newest great discovery in the operatic world, were brought up in the same poorer class street in Kazan, the capital of an eastern province of Russia.

SCHOOL REUNION AT QUIGLEY FARM

Former Pupils Of Cherry Fork School To Meet Saturday.

Columbiana, June 8.—(Sp.)—A reunion and picnic will be held Saturday at the grove located on the J. J. Quigley farm west of Columbiana. The gathering is to commemorate the events and friendships of Cherry Fork school.

Although the school is no longer held and the property long since removed the spirit of friendship still holds as a sacred tie among those who once had their school days there. The spot where the school was located is marked by a parcel of land adjoining the Easterly sister farm about two and one-half miles west of Columbiana.

Aaron Overholt, now past 90 years and a resident of Columbiana, is perhaps the oldest surviving teacher. Mrs. Edna (Fire) Schooly of East Palestine is among the latest who taught the school.

Miss Etta Kay, 57, died at the State hospital Massillon Monday, and the body was brought to Columbiana and taken to the home of a sister, Mrs. K. B. Lyder, East Fairfield, where the funeral service was held Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. McFate of Canton, visited Mrs. Caroline Shaffer and daughters Sunday.

Mrs. Molly Hamilton left for Pittsburgh Wednesday after a two week's visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McGahan.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Ryser received word from their son Russell, who has been engaged in Y. M. C. A. work in Boston, that he had sailed for Europe and would enjoy the fellowship of a boy friend while touring the countries across the sea.

August Anderson and family of Ravenna, were week-end guests of James Sefton and family.

What Farmers Need Added to Credit And Good Advice

By WALTER W. HEAD
First Vice President American Bankers Association.

If the farmer is not prosperous there can be no permanent prosperity in other industries, because the farmer's purchasing power, under normal conditions, is one of the most potent influences we have in the United States. When conditions with the farmer are good, and he is receiving the cost of production plus something more for his labor, he is in a position to buy from the manufacturer.

A condition that affects the farmer, cutting off his purchasing power, destroying his belief in himself, in the banker and in everybody else, can only bring about a chaotic condition, which affects every business man and laboring man in the United States, regardless of what job he may have. The farmer had all the credit and advice he needed during the period of prosperity, but he, with us all, suffered depression. There clearly must have been something lacking to enable him to go on the even tenor of his way. The answer is very plain. It is that some means need to be provided to enable the farmer, after his labor has been expended, when the crops have been harvested, or when his live stock have reached the stage where he must ship it, to liquidate his indebtedness. He must have somebody interested in him sufficiently, not altogether from his own standpoint, but from the standpoint of the banker and business man, so that he can put his products on the market at the time when they will bring him the most.

I do not mean to indorse every imaginable scheme for co-operative marketing, but I do believe the basic idea is worthy of consideration from the banker's standpoint as well as the farmer's standpoint. Bankers are certainly interested in the farmer, by reason of the fact that they cannot be prosperous in their own business unless the farmer also is prosperous. They must interest themselves in the farmer, not only in giving him the business advice he needs and in financing him during the period of construction, but also in helping him place his products on the market at a time when they will bring him the cost of production, plus a reasonable addition for his services, and in payment for his labor expended.

SOCIETY

Allen-Hadley

MARKED by simplicity, yet beautiful in appointment, was the wedding of Rev. Myrtle O. Allen and Rev. Larkin J. Hadley, Cleveland, at 5 p. m. Thursday at the First Friends church, this city. The church was decorated with palms and hydrangeas.

The Friends service was used and Rev. John Pennington, Damascus, pronounced the couple man and wife. Rev. Homer Cox, Cleveland, assisted in the service. George Gillespie, Cleveland, played Lohengrin's wedding march and Clarence Cosand, Damascus, sang, "O Promise Me." He was accompanied by Mrs. Cosand.

Miss Allen was very attractive in a creation of white meot and wore a veil of white tulle, cap fashioned and caught with small white flowers. She carried a bouquet of white roses and snap dragons. Her bridesmaid, Rev. Pearl McLaughlin, Short Creek, was dressed in pink crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of iris and snap dragons. Lewis Hadley, Mooresville, Ind., brother of the groom, was best man. The only ornament the bride wore was a string of pearls, a gift from the groom.

Little Mary Ruth Allen, Salem, was flower girl and carried a basket of sweetpeas. She wore a frock of white silk. Dorothy Rice, Beloit, was the ring bearer. She was dressed in pink organdie. Both girls are nieces of the bride. The ushers were Miss Alice Yeager, Cleveland; Miss Helen Maxwell, Alliance; and Misses Lizzie Coulson and Pearl Walker, Salem. These girls were gowned in honeydew lace voile.

Following the service the bridal party left for Beloit, where a dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. Francis Rice, the latter the bride's sister, for relatives and close friends, numbering about 30.

Covers were laid for 10 at the bride's table to which three bouquets of pink sweet peas in crystal baskets, tied with pink maline, added loveliness. Little pink rose baskets filled with candy were the favors, and carried out the decorative motif of pink.

Mrs. Hadley is a former Salem girl and spent her early life here. She is a graduate of the Cleveland Bible school, and for some years has been engaged in pastoral work. For the last year she held a position in the office of the Cleveland Bible institute. Rev. Mr. Hadley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hadley, Mooresville, Ind., was graduated from the Cleveland Bible institute at the annual commencement exercises in May.

Rev. and Mrs. Hadley left Thursday evening for Cleveland. They will spend their honeymoon in a cottage on the lake and after July 1, will be at home on Cedar ave., Cleveland.

A number of out of town guests attended the wedding at the church, and among the guests at the dinner were, Mr. and Mrs. George Gillespie and Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson, Cleveland; Rev. and Mrs. John Pennington and daughter, Miss Deborah, Damascus; and Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Allen and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Allen and children, Salem.

Ellsworth Avenue Club

When associates of the Ellsworth Avenue club met Thursday afternoon at Mrs. George Hamilton, Ellsworth ave., arrangements were made for an all-day picnic Thursday, June 14, at the home of Mrs. Ross Miser, near New Waterford, a former member of the club. The event is for the members and their families and a covered dish dinner will be served at noon. Mrs. Harley Bosten, Ellsworth rd., will be hostess at a meeting in two weeks.

Maccabee Women

A social period with lunch followed a meeting of Salem review No. 253 Woman's Benefit association of the Maccabees, Thursday evening at the hall, Main st. This committee will have charge of the social period in two weeks: Dr. Estelle Wright, Mrs. Harry Stratton, Mrs. Charles Fineran, Mrs. Walter Whitcomb and Mrs. James Hasey.

Garnet Club

The usual diversions entertained when Mrs. Ralph Huston was hostess at a meeting of the Garnet club Thursday afternoon at her home Teagarden rd. At this time plans were made for a party for the members and their families Saturday evening, June 23, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McConner, Ellsworth ave.

South Side Club

Plans were made for a strawberry and ice cream supper for the members and their families, to be held in the near future, at a meeting of the South Side club Thursday afternoon at which Mrs. William Tolp, Lisbon rd., was hostess at her home. In two weeks the members will be guests of Mrs. M. Hines, Lisbon rd.

Carrie Barge Circle

Meeting Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Clyde Wright, Ellsworth ave., members of the Carrie Barge social set the date of their July meeting for Thursday, the 12th, instead of the 5th. This will be an afternoon and evening picnic at the home of Miss Myrtle Windle, Lisbon rd.

Miss Wilma Kinsey, who recently was graduated from the Cleveland Bible institute, Cleveland, was here Thursday afternoon to attend the Allen-Hadley wedding. She is spending a short time in Alliance before leaving for her home in Portsmouth, Va. Miss Kinsey was formerly of this city.

Mrs. William Kirk, Damascus, was here Thursday evening to attend the commencement exercises of Salem High school. Her granddaughter, Martha Park was a member of the graduating class.

Miss Lorene Ward, Huntington, W. Va., is spending a three week's vacation with her mother, Mrs. Margaret Ward, and sister, Mrs. Joseph Lebar.

Elmer Kesselmire, who has been seriously ill, is reported to be improving.

Once News-Girl, Now Official

Mary R. Schwab

Almost unbelievable is the story of the rise to success of Mrs. Mary Ranty Schwab of San Francisco. Once a tiny, ragged news girl, helping a large family to eke out an uncertain living, she has progressed to the position of assistant city attorney in the coast municipality. All during the years she labored—as a news girl, salesgirl, factory hand and stenographer—she studied, educating herself finally to the point at which she won admittance to the bar. Her success since then has occasioned admiring comment.

Jennings Avenue Club

Associates of the Jennings Avenue club were guests at a 1 o'clock luncheon given Wednesday by Mrs. Arthur Justice, East Seventh st. Fancypark and visiting occupied the afternoon. The next meeting will be held in about a month.

Castleton-Moore

Samuel Moore received word Thursday of the marriage of his son, Thomas, and Miss Mary Louise Castleton of Richmond. Details of the wedding were not stated in the letter to his father, except that their marriage was performed in Detroit during the Easter vacation in April. At that time Mr. Moore notified his father that he would not come to Salem as he and Miss Castleton were going to Detroit to attend a wedding. It is thought that they were married at the same time.

Thomas Moore and his bride are students of Miami university, Oxford, and previous to entering college were not acquainted. The young couple are expected to arrive in Salem Saturday to visit the groom's father.

Haus Frau Club

Fancypark interested the members at an assembly of Haus Frau club associates Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. Minth, Depot st. The hostess served a lunch. The next meeting will be held the first Thursday in July.

Miss Martha Campbell, Cleveland, is expected here Friday evening from Hollidaysburg, Pa., where she attended the commencement exercises at Highland hall, to spend her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Campbell, McKinley ave.

Mrs. Susan Schwartz and Mrs. Adelle Beck of Salem and Mrs. W. H. Crutchley of Sebring are visiting Mrs. W. K. Talbot of Damascus.

DIPLOMAS PRESENTED

was on a timely subject and was well received. "This is just as much your property as is your home and you should take just as good care of this building as you would your home," he declared.

Added features of the program were the vocal numbers by Harriet Triem who gave "By the Waters of Minto," and "Good Morning Brother Sunshine," and that of Eleanor Tolson who sang "At Dawning." Both singers were accompanied by Elizabeth Miller at the piano.

Principal Presents Class
Following completion of the program, Principal C. M. Rohrbach presented the class to the board of education for graduation with a few well chosen words in which he explained the aims of the faculty in preparing the class for graduation.

He was followed by F. J. Emeny, president of the board of education, who congratulated the graduating students and expressed the thanks of the school board for the support given them by the general public at the last election when the bond issue for the High school addition was passed as well as the three mill levy.

Benediction by Dr. P. H. Gordon and a selection by the High school orchestra concluded the program.

Credit for their part in the program goes to the High school orchestra under direction of Miss Grace P. Orr, musical supervisor in the schools. "The Anvil Chorus" and Schubert's "Serenade" were two of their numbers and were both well rendered.

The auditorium was filled, not more than six seats being empty during the program.

ACTOR RISKS HIS LIFE IN STUPENDOUS FALL DOWN SIDE OF MOUNTAIN

Screen producers have stretched their imaginations to the breaking point in their efforts to devise new and thrilling scenes for motion pictures. The record of the screen bristles with memorable thrill episodes calculated to grip the hearts of the audiences and make their hair stand on end.

In Emory Johnson's most recent dramatic scenic upheaval, "Westbound Limited," in which the noted producer glorifies and immortalizes the railroad men of America, Johnny Harron, brother of the late Bobby Harron, risks his precious young neck in one of the most strikingly realistic and thrilling scenes ever flung upon a motion picture screen.

This scene develops into one of the stirring climaxes of "Westbound Limited," now at the Royal theater, much of the power of which is directly attributable to the daring of Johnny Harron.

ANCIENT CELTIC BELL FOUND

Believed by English Archeologists to Have Been Buried for Hundreds of Years.

The Celtic festival of St. Bridget was revived recently at Glastonbury, the first time for centuries that the anniversary has been observed. A service was held in the ancient chapel of St. Patrick, at the entrance of the abbey ruins, with its preformation stone altar. Rev. Lionel S. Lewis, vicar of the parish, and a keen Celtic student, announced that there had recently been discovered in an old oak box from a farmhouse on the moors a curious bronze bell which proved to be identical in construction with St. Patrick's bell, so venerated in Dublin.

The British museum authorities pronounced it to be undoubtedly an ancient Celtic bell. According to tradition, St. Bridget, when she went from Glastonbury to Ireland, left behind a bell, and that discovered has every appearance of being the identical bell. It was wrapped in extremely old linen. The "Angelus" was rung on the bell at the close of the service by Mother Eve, superior of the Order of St. John the Baptist, St. Mary and St. Catherine. The tone of the bell was very rich and musical.—London Mail.

WORK THAT REQUIRES SKILL

Efficient Handling of Submarine Vessel Calls for Ability of the Highest Order.

The commander of a submarine must be in wait for his quarry, with the nose of his boat pointing in the direction where he expects the enemy's vessel to pass. Then he has to estimate the speed of the approaching ship and her distance and to fire the torpedo at the point where he calculates she will have arrived when the torpedo has finished its run.

A naval officer says: "If any one wishes to appreciate some of the difficulties of submarine work let him sit down under a chart of any portion of the seas, suspended from the ceiling; let him punch a hole in it, and above the hole place a piece of mirror inclined at 45 degrees.

"Let him further imagine his chair and glass are moving sideways as the effect of tide. Let him occasionally fill the room with steam to represent mist. Let him finally crumple the chart into ridges to represent the waves, and then try to carry out the maneuvers that look so simple when the chart is spread out on the table and looked down upon in the quiet solitude of a well-lit room."

Greeting Him Sweetly.

We had a dog. I called him "Little Boy." He was a great pet. Whenever he wished to come into the house he would stand up and rattle the door knob with his paw.

One afternoon I heard a fumbling at the knob. I hurried to the door, but had some difficulty in opening it. The fumbling became more insistent.

"Just a minute, Little Boy," I called out. "Bad, bad Little Boy, not to wait one tiny bit's minute."

I pulled the door open. The janitor gazed at me in blank amazement. He was repairing the screen.—Chicago Tribune.

Bird Brought Calm Weather.

Fung, a fabled weather bird, of royal lineage, long-tailed and green of hue, has become one of the valued bits of property aboard the Oriental liner President McKinley, avers Leo Mattheis, purser. Fung dates his origin back to a family of regal birds of the province of Hunan, China. At any rate, Fung brought summer weather to the last round trip of the liner. Soon after the ship left Yokohama the wind rose and lashed the sea into comb. Fung perched on the compass. Immediately calm prevailed and summer skies accompanied the ship through 8,000 miles—Portland Oregonian.

Couldn't Quite Place Him.

George Arliss never tires of recalling an incident which occurred while he was acting the title role in Louis N. Parker's "Disraeli." An earnest young lady in Philadelphia sought out Owen Wister, the novelist, and told him that she had planned to see "Disraeli," says Mr. Arliss, "but she first would like to read up on him. Here she found herself in great difficulty. "You see, Mr. Wister," she said, "I know he is in the Bible, but I'm not sure whether he appears in the Old or the New Testament."—New York Herald.

Tracing Migration of Fish.

To get a record of the migratory movements of cod, pollock and haddock, the United States Bureau of Fisheries plans extensive experiments in the Gulf of Maine. Many of these fishes will be caught and numbered and metal tags will be clamped on their tails. They will then be released to go their own way. Where they go will be revealed later when fishermen netting the tagged specimens report the number and place where the fishes are caught.

Cattle Raising in Africa.

Southeast Africa, that part included in the British possessions, is reported to be as rich in natural grasses as any choice part of the world. It is too valuable for the rearing of cattle for slaughter; but it is predicted that in the next generation Africa will be the greatest cattle-producing country in the British dominions and in 50 years one of the greatest in the world.

SPECIAL MEETING MON. 722, FRIDAY, JUNE 8, AT 7:30 P. M. PLEASE ATTEND. PRESIDENT.

THE IDEAL

By MOLLIE MATHER

(Copyright, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

JIM TOWNSEND leaned forward watching hopefully the car door.

Since the memorable evening, not long ago, when the provokingly haunting young woman had entered that same door his senses had been alert to her possible coming. She must surely return some evening from the city, on the 5:30 homeward bound.

He had fretted as miles flew by that there might be no way of learning her name before the train bore her perhaps out of his life forever, carrying his hope of happiness.

The young woman, casting a fleeting glance in his direction, had half-smiled, as though under the impression of former acquaintance. The smile was quickly checked, but it left the hope of sympathetic understanding.

Now, just as the illustrator was sinking back discouraged, the last passenger was the girl of his dreams. As she was about to pass Townsend, fate caught the long golden chain she wore and fastened it to the arm of the seat he occupied. Quickly he reached to release a golden pendant, then sat staring in amazement, for the locket cover lay open in his hand, revealing the round countenance of his old college chum, Richard Danvers.

"If you please," said the girl—and he turned to find her regarding him curiously.

"Pardon me," Townsend said, "I was rather taken by surprise. Your locket contains a picture of my old chum, Dick Danvers. If you are his friend, or relative, you may have heard him mention Jim Townsend."

"I have heard of you," she agreed—"the fishing trips into Canada—and lately I have heard—" she paused—"that you are to be best man at the wedding."

The wedding! Jim recollected that Dick was to be married next month. He stepped out into the car aisle, motioning to the vacant seat. "Won't you join me?" he bowed. The young woman graciously accepted. Something very heavy and uncomfortable seemed to have settled in the place where his heart used to be.

"Allow me," he said stiffly, "to wish you happiness. I shall renew my congratulations to Dick when I see him."

"You will not forget the date of the wedding?" the young woman reminded as he rose slowly at his approaching station.

"It will be impossible for me to attend the wedding," Jim answered shortly.

He settled down to his sketching after this with a determination to forget the haunting young person who was his friend's promised wife.

One day Dick's bulky figure loomed up before Jim on the street.

"Where in the world have you been?" Dick questioned.

"Bosky," his friend briefly answered, "You'd better cut it out for this afternoon," Dick advised, "and drive out to Dalton with me, to meet Jane."

Townsend was about to refuse when the tormenting memory picture of the girl flashed before him.

"All right," he agreed recklessly, "I'll go."

His heart hammered against his ribs in a foolish manner, when later the two men awaited the appearance of Jane, in her father's living room. When Dick's fiancée came and was duly presented, Jim stared incredulously, then controlling himself, put forth his hand. For Miss Jane of Dick's affections was a tall, fair young person, while the little girl of the train episode was short, with gypsy dark eyes and hair. Perplexed, confused, Jim Townsend endeavored to listen to the polite conversation of Dick's bride-to-be. Then who—his heart was questioning—who is the other?

"If you don't mind," a voice said at his side, "I will take you out to show you the gardens. It is understood between Dick and me that I am to entertain any disturbing caller. He and Jane have so much to talk over concerning the coming wedding."

Jim knew that voice before he could turn to look into the laughing dark eyes.

"Sometimes," Dick remarked appreciatively, "I think that Glory is more truly my friend than she is Jane's. Reads, as it were, my secret wishes. Jim—Mr. James Townsend—allow me to introduce you to Miss Gloria Greenville, college friend of Jane's, and all that sort of thing—even as you, and I," Dick quoted in explanation.

"Why," demanded Jim later, when he and the realized ideal sat together beneath a garden maple, "did you allow me to think that you were engaged to Dick? And why do you wear Dick's picture at the end of your golden chain?"

Miss Greenville laughed softly.

"Well, meeting you like that, casually, it seemed unnecessary to go into explanation. I knew you'd be bound to meet Jane some day. As to wearing Dick's picture, Jane had left her locket at our house and I thought that the safest way of returning it to her. I am sorry that you have decided not to be best man at the wedding, because I am to be maid of honor."

"Jim," begged Richard—he had come to stand beside the two—"won't you reconsider that refusal?"

"I have reconsidered," Jim answered promptly. "I'm coming. A man ought to learn what to say before his own time comes."

MYSTERIES OF THE SEA ARE FREQUENT

LOSS OF SCHOONER ARMSTRONG IN 1918 TOLD ON PLANK JUST PICKED UP.

MANY CASES NEVER SOLVED

Disappearance of the Collier Cyclops During the War, Leaving No Trace, Has Not Been Explained to This Day.

Washington.—In Uncle Sam's records of his sea service, navy, coast guard and merchant marine, are scores and perhaps even hundreds of reports of vessels which have sailed from one port or another of the world and which never made the intended port, disappearing in a wet blanket of mystery.

A current news item carries an account of the finding of a battered plank bearing a hand-carved inscription which gives the last message from the captain of the schooner E. E. Armstrong, which with its officers and crew disappeared mysteriously from the high seas in 1918.

The captain carved into the plank words simply to say that the ship was being overwhelmed, and that all would be lost. Once in a while in the case of these mysterious disappearances something is found to shed some little light on the cause of the disaster, but in the majority of cases mystery remains mystery and the words "never solved" are written into the records.

Small but staunch ships of Uncle Sam's sea service patrol the oceans at all seasons of the year, some of them on the search for icebergs and some of them on the search for derelicts which, like the icebergs, are a peril to navigation. Today the iceberg search is on, but a little later in the season it will be discontinued until another season comes when the great bergs break again from their moorings and drive athwart the lanes of commerce.

Fate of Cyclops Still Unknown.
During the war the collier Cyclops sailed from a South American port for Norfolk, Va. It was one of Uncle Sam's staunchest ships of the service. "It departed and never arrived," and this is the whole record of the case. There are mothers, sisters and wives today who still hope against hope that somewhere some loved one who disappeared with the Cyclops yet may be living, but the government authorities say that in this case even hope is hopeless.

For months small vessels of the United States navy and of the coast guard sailed the seas in search of a trace of the wreckage of the Cyclops. It is said that never before was such a thorough search made for something which might give the key to the solution of tragedy. The collier was fully equipped with boats and had a great quantity of woodwork in its construction. Not so much as a plank or a splinter of the vessel or of its equipment has been found to this day.

Years ago a United States man-of-war, a wooden ship, disappeared from the surface of the sea. She was carrying a crew of 200 men, all of them stalwart sailors whose homes were on the New England coast. This ship, the Hornet, had won a notable victory over an enemy man-of-war some months previous to her disappearance, and she had added one or two other exploits of note to the records of her sea career. Then she sailed from a West India port and no port ever knew her more. The navy cherishes her memory.

Tragic Loss of the Somers.
Once in a while by the rarest of good fortune a man on two mannaes to escape the disaster which has overtaken their ship and their crew-mates. Such a case was that of the brig Somers, a United States man-of-war, which was overtaken by a terrible storm in the Caribbean sea in the year 1847. The ship went down carrying most of her crew with it, but by what has been accounted by sailors as a sea miracle three or four men managed to outride the tropical hurricane in a small boat.

It may be a matter of interest to know that the Somers was accounted by the sailors as an unlucky ship. They did not like to be assigned to her for duty. It was on the Somers off the coast of Africa that a young midshipman attempted to bring about a mutiny of the crew. He and one or two of his fellow conspirators were hanged at the yard arm. The case created a tremendous sensation at the time, for the midshipman was the son of a member of the cabinet.

Far Enough.

Harvesting sugar beets has been facilitated by the invention of an Illinois man which consists of a machine that tops, digs and boxes the product, according to Popular Mechanics Magazine. In operation two shoes slide along the surface of the ground and carry a cutter which cuts off the beet top at the required height, throwing the severed portion to one side. Following the topper comes a digger, or uprooter, which removes the beet from the ground and carries it to the rear, where it is deposited in a box or basket.

Why They're Using Joint-Ease for Burning Feet

Just because it is now known that burning, sore, aching, swollen feet are caused by trouble in the many joints in the foot and Joint-Ease soaks right in and gets to the seat of the trouble—the cartilage and ligaments of the joints.

And to think that for generations we have been powdering and soaking our feet, thinking the trouble was only skin deep—an old-fashioned idea.

Well, better late than never—just stop the powdering and medical bathing and other foolishness for three days and just rub on Joint-Ease—and remember when stainless Joint-Ease goes in foot agony and burning goes out—quick—60 cents a tube. Leese Drug Co., Flooding Drug Store and Bolger & French.

ANYTHING BETTER THAN HIKE

Fat Youth Would Welcome Pneumonia, if Only It Could Be Served With Promptness.

Harold MacGrath (novelist) tells this story in the New York Herald: "One dark, chill April morning, some years ago, Billy Muldoon announced that we should go hiking instead of riding. This would mean eight or ten miles of heel-and-toe work. Among those present were Kid McCoy, Charles B. Dillingham and myself. There arrived the night before a fat young chap, who weighed 260 pounds. He went along all right for a mile, but as we took a long, muddy hill he began to puff. When we reached the top he sat down on a big cold boulder and began to wipe the sweat from his face.

"Hey, you big fat slab!" yelled the professor. "What the blankety-blank do you mean by sitting down on that wet stone when you're all a-sweat? Do you want pneumonia?" "Said the victim promptly: 'Yes, and I want it right now!'"

Fish Meal.

Experiments with fish meal as a food for domestic animals have been made abroad, and it has been found that pigs and cattle eat it with relish. In Norway the meal is made from cod and herring. The codfish are dried first in the air and then in an oven, and afterward ground into meal. They make a highly nutritious food. Herring are boiled and placed under pressure before being ground.

In England and Scotland fish meal is made from the waste parts of all kinds of fish, first steamed and then dried and ground. This meal usually contains from 55 to 65 per cent of albuminoids, 3 to 6 per cent of fats and 14 to 18 per cent of calcium phosphate.

Searching Ocean's Depths.

The latest invention in nautical devices now in use on a pilot boat is a machine which throws a beam of light to the sea bottom allowing the depth of the water below the ship to be gauged. Soundings may thus be done away with. The invention may be usefully employed by the big liners in entering shallow water. The searchlight is worked through a hole in the lower part of the ship, while an observation window is placed nearby through which the beam of light may be seen. A mirror is set at the end of a long observation tube running vertically through the ship to the bridge.

Novel Motor Canoe.

It is reported that a western man has built a most unusual water craft in the form of a motor canoe. He took an ordinary canoe and placed in the bow a detachable motorboat arrangement which pulls the canoe forward when the motor is operating reversely. At the stern of the canoe he rigged up an airplane propeller, which is driven by a separate engine. In order to insure safety, pontoons were fastened on either side of the craft, and the steering gear of both motors was placed within easy reach near the center of the canoe.

Helmet Worn by Magellan.

A brass helmet worn by Magellan, in 1521, when he was killed in the Philippines while making the first round-the-world voyage, has been discovered by Major H. D. Seldon, United States army, according to advices received by the copper and brass research association.

The helmet, dented from blows received in battle, but in good condition, was purchased from a Moro chieftain, by the officer, who ascertained its history through tribal traditions.

Quite Shakespearean.

NOT ALL GOOD FOR HEATING

Much Variation in Soapstones—Classification of Properties Would Be Most Valuable.

Soapstone is a term that has been loosely applied to several varieties of rock with differing chemical and physical properties. Some soapstones are hard, being only slightly different from serpentine, and others are soft and contain more talc. Some varieties have a definite grain and others are composed of interlocking prismatic crystals.

The difference in properties affects the suitability of various soapstones for different uses. In the construction of fabricated forms hardness, toughness and absence of grain are most important, but in the manufacture of foot warmers, griddles and heating stoves for fireless cookers resistance to heat and retention of heat are more important. Thus soapstone from certain localities in Virginia is more valuable for fabricating than for heat retention, and certain Vermont soapstones are superior for heating purposes. An investigation of the properties of various soapstones and classification by such properties would be most valuable.—New York Herald.

Domestic Science Schools Use Calumet

Where baking is done scientifically—where ingredients stand or fall under exacting tests, you find Calumet Baking Powder used more often than any other brand.

—the choice of over hundreds of brands—the perfect leavener—pure—uniform.

Keep this in mind when you buy baking powder, because it is of vital importance to successful—dependable baking.

The purchase price of baking powder does not determine its economical merits—results tell the story.

That's why the sale of Calumet is 2½ times as much as that of any other baking powder.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

MRS.
FANNIE
JUDSON

"There is nothing better I could say for the Tanlac treatment than that I am still enjoying the splendid health it brought me four years ago; I have not had to spend a dollar on medicines since that time," is the statement of Mrs. Fannie Judson, widely known and esteemed resident of 223 Albert street, Windsor, Ont.

"Before taking Tanlac I had suffered from a complication of ailments for five years and seemed right on the verge of a complete breakdown. I had fallen off to almost a skeleton and was so nervous I couldn't even hold a writing pen. I couldn't sleep, scarcely ate enough for an invalid and suffered torture from indigestion. I would not go through all that suffering again for $5,000. I used five bottles of Tanlac and gained five pounds for every bottle and am enjoying as good health now as most any school girl."

Fables of a Wise Little Bride

She had such a pretty cretonne laundry bag—shower gift from one of the girls. It hung on the first hook in the bedroom closet and George was being patiently trained to "pick up your things and put them in the bag, dear, don't leave them on the floor!"

But long before George was perfect in this practice, the cretonne bag began to bulge and the lid on the towel hamper would shut down. And when there wasn't a single clean pink apron in the cabinet drawer, the Little Bride knew she was face to face with that monstrosity—The Laundry Problem!

To send the wash out cost too much—$4 a week from her allowance. A woman by the day was hard to get, and the Little Bride was "fussy"—she had such lovely, lacy lace chest things!

What did she do? Paid $10.00 down and we sent her an Electric Washer. And the neighbors now exclaim "Isn't she the thrifty little thing? No wonder they can keep a car!"

WILLITE SURFACE WILL BE TESTED

County Officials Satisfied That Road Material Is Cheap, Lasting

By M. K. Zimmerman

County commissioners and Prosecuting Attorney J. C. Hanley went to Washington, Pa., Wednesday to inspect a lot of Willite paving, the object being to observe the wear on streets so surfaced, and which have been down one, two and three years.

There are over 17,000 square yard of Willite paving in Washington and last Monday night the Washington city council awarded a contract for 50,000 more yards of this character of street surfacing.

It is proposed to resurface a portion of Fifth st. East Liverpool, with Willite, and also that section of the East Liverpool-Youngstown, in Perry county highway north of Riverview cemetery in Liverpool township with the same material. It has also been suggested that this surface material be used in resurfacing the Lincoln Highway between Hanover and East Rochester.

Several months ago a square yard of this surfacing material was lifted from a main traveled street in Washington, and it has not been replaced. The sides of the Willite surface exposed to all kinds of heavy traffic in this two-inch deep hollow square have hardly been indented. This severe test has proved the hardness of the paving material, its rigidity and lack of brittleness. The swinging of a six-pound sledge hammer on the surface of one of these Willite top streets failed to make a dent in the surface. The commissioners left Washington satisfied that this top surface which can be put down at a cost cheaper than any other road material now on the market is the best that has been developed. In resurfacing Fifth st. the brick pavement will be flushed and cleaned first and then closed to traffic. Then will immediately follow the placing of the Willite surface. Any square so closed to traffic will be reopened within two days thereafter, as it is possible to travel over a Willite surface a few hours after it is spread.

Your blood changes in the Spring. Why?

YOUR blood is thicker and more sluggish in Winter than in Summer—it has to be to keep you warm. Then comes warmer days and lighter clothes. JACK NOT TRAINING STRENUOUSLY YET

Date Of Gibbons Bout Too Far Off For Any Heavy Work, Champ Says.

Great Falls, Mont., June 8.—Those who know Jack Dempsey as he was in Toledo and as he was in Jersey City, gaze at him these days—and then ask themselves: "Is he just playing tag, or what's all about, anyhow?"

For the fact has become obvious that the kingpin gladiator is dawdling more than working.

Is Dempsey taking Tom Gibbons too lightly? Or is he just going easy in his training now for fear he will be able before July 4? That is another question. So far Dempsey hasn't let himself out in any department of his training. All of it has been good enough from the Great Falls standpoint. But it isn't in the eyes of those who saw him "preppink" for Fulton, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Brennan and Carpenter.

Dempsey insists the fight day is too far away to make hard work necessary for another week or ten days. He may be correct. But those who champion him in 1919 and 1921 insist the champion needs plenty of work, and that four solid weeks would not be too much.

So far this week Dempsey has punched the big bag, then the inflated one and boxed a few rounds with his small sparring partners. Beyond that he has done a little road work—nothing else.

"Jack will begin to speed up about Monday or Tuesday," says Jack Kearns. "Then watch him go. He's at the peak of his career—a greater fighter by far than when he whipped Willard. He will be in perfect condition for Gibbons."

NO DEMPSEY-WILLIS FIGHT LABOR DAY

New York, June 8.—In spite of fevered statements to the contrary, there will be no Dempsey-Willis bout on Labor day or any other. That much is down in the books in red ink.

The New York state athletic commission, under the jurisdiction of which the bout must be conducted, publicly ignored the issue and will continue to ignore it until the annual ferry over the affair dies a natural death from mal-nutrition. The commission's policy is one of watchful waiting.

It knows that the enterprise must be conducted during the present out-door season, if at all. It knows that promoters must have ample time in which to prepare for the fight. It knows that it will be criticised alike if it sanctions or forbids the bout. And knowing these things, it wisely does nothing.

HARDING EXPLAINS WORLD COURT PLAN

Washington, June 8.—President Harding again today voiced his strong advocacy of America joining the international court of justice.

In a letter to Bishop Thomas S. Gallor, president of the national council of the Protestant Episcopal church, the president declared his proposal was placed before the senate after "months of thought, study and conference" and that in his opinion America could make "its largest feasible contribution to the stabilization of civilization" by adhering to the court program.

"We will surrender none of the advantages and independence which we enjoy," said the President in his letter.

The president pictured the court proposal as a "middle of the road" course between those who are against any form of American involvement abroad and those who are pronounced advocates of America's joining the league, although his letter did not mention specifically any factions or organizations.

The president's letter was called forth by a note he recently received from Bishop Gallor, praising him for his stand on the world court issue.

Marrying Parson Tells How To Be Happy, Though Wed

New York, June 8.—The bride's own month—held promise to day of breaking all records for number of weddings in the history of New York.

Dr. Randolph Ray, new handsome, youthful pastor of the historic "marrying church"—the little church around the corner—is authority for the statement.

Between rapid-fire weddings today, Dr. Ray, successor to the late Dr. George T. Houghton, gave his views on "how to be happy though wed."

"First—Be sure love exists," Dr. Ray said. "Mere physical attraction or mental attraction alone is not sufficient. Real love requires a combination of both."

"Second—Remember love is a partnership and marriage is a democracy. The husband is no longer 'king' of the home."

"Third—Have a financial understanding, keep a joint checking account. The old system of putting the wife on an allowance is just another way of saying she is on the salary list."

"Fourth—Be prepared to sacrifice. Marriage means giving up of much. Marriage has withstood all the attacks of the experimentalists. Marrying is about as popular today as ever in history."

The "little church around the corner" has adopted a new policy. Under Dr. Ray there will be no secret marriages. Always cannot find sanctuary there.

"Many modern marriages are entered into too hastily," Dr. Ray asserted. "Investigation will prove the majority of divorces are directly traceable to this. My hope is that every 'little church' marriage will be a lasting one."

Yet, in spite of this, Dr. Ray has been kept busy constantly during the first week in June. It is literally true he can scarcely step out of his study door without meeting a blushing couple.

Orations Are Delivered By Three Honor Graduates

Here are excerpts from the orations given at the High school commencement Thursday night by the three honor graduates—Florence Hoffmaster, Lucy Hole and Raymond Parshall:

BY FLORENCE HOFFMASTER
"History gives us many classifications of various periods of time. Although the past continues to be a mystery to us in many ways, faint glimmers have been from time to time discovered which show us that thousands of years ago there existed races of people who used weapons roughly hewn from stone, thus giving their age the name of Stone age."

"Then, with the advancement of civilization, weapons of war ceased to be the only determining factor and the empires of old came to pride themselves on their arts and culture."

"It is noticeable that all really great achievements have taken place because someone at an opportune moment has taken advantage of a seemingly simple opportunity. Scientists and inventors have made their most important discoveries through accidental happenings."

"What countless opportunities this age presents by its school system. Let us consider the average life of a person and see how the opportunities differ from the past. Today a child has a better chance to live because its parents have been trained according to modern ideas of health."

"The modern school takes care of most every problem. If we consider carefully we find there are several kinds of opportunities presenting themselves, those for personal gain only and those giving service to the world as well as happiness to the one using them. Service has been the ambition of real heroes and heroines throughout the ages. Our greatest men and women have been those who coupled their desire for service with the opportunities presented to them even at the cost of personal sacrifice."

"The height of success is never entirely reached. There is always room to go higher. With this as our motto, the age of opportunity will not only exist for the present but as long as our flag stands for what is right and just."

BY LUCY HOLE

"Since the beginning of time there has been firmly rooted in the mind of man a certain courage by means of which he may perform a new act without aid or incentive from any external source. This power within himself enables him to conceive a new plan and retain it as an inspiration by means of which he may resist the very tide of circumstance."

"It does not matter whether he initiates a new creed, authorizes a reformation or introduces a radical change in dress. It is only necessary that he have the courage to begin and to brave the ridicule to which he is subjected; in a word that he possess the characteristic of initiative."

"How may we develop this quality in our lives? Perhaps some of us have had the impression that initiative is required only by the chosen few who are destined to be leaders. It is true that a person may not lead without this quality. It is just as true that he may not follow. Indeed without this quality he may not even stand up. For initiative is the foundation of character. Building character has been defined as making the most of the environment in which one lives. That is, he must substitute ingenuity for the material advantages he lacks."

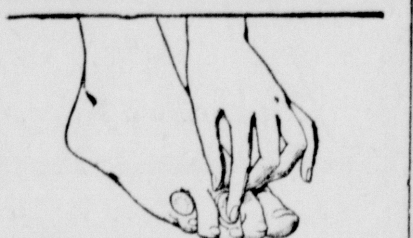

"Men and women in the past have overcome almost insurmountable obstacles by means of initiative. Our work is to learn to think for ourselves and to act in consequence. Let us develop this quality of initiative. Let our very obstacles serve as incentives and our flattest failures as stepping stones to success. Let us take for a motto those brave words of Napoleon and say before we enter each day's battle, 'If it is possible it must be done. If it is impossible it shall be done.'"

BY RAYMOND PARSHALL

"What is wrong with the world of today? Nation rises against nation in war. War, greed, hatred and crime are shaking the foundation of this world so to speak. But these evils do not run rampant over the face of the globe without cause. There must be some incentive and my idea is that thoughtlessness is that incentive. The inhabitants in this world of ours do not think in the true sense of the word and until they do this deplorable condition into which the universe has drifted will remain unchanged."

"Is war ever justifiable? No, and the people are beginning to think that it is not. The league of nations, the Hague tribunal and the newly advocated world court favored by President Harding are evidence of this fact. The sentiment of the people is gradually growing more and more averse to war and the time will come when the nations will be bound together just as the states of the United States are."

state of affairs? I would say education. Education is the power to think and to understand. The whole world is beginning to see the value of education. Our colleges are so full reservations must be made in advance. At the present rate, illiteracy both among Americans and foreign born in the United States will entirely disappear in only 50 years. We must learn the great lesson of service to others from the only Perfect Being.

"Let us then concentrate our efforts in educating ourselves and making education readily accessible to the coming generation so they may really and truly think. In this manner we are doing our duty in making the world a peace-loving, prosperous place for the people who are to live in it in the future. Therefore let us think it is worth while."
